Water Works Shaft Employees Victims of Fractured Skulls—Death Comes to Both at Benedictine Hospital.

THIRD CRITICAL
Samuel Castelana of Shokan in Serious Condition at the Hospital.

Francis Amell of Cottekill and Louis Shapiro of Kerhonkson, employees at shaft 2-a of the New York city water works project on the Stonykill, died at the Benedictine Hospital as a result of injuries which they suffered early Saturday morning when a scaffold on which they were working broke, throwing three men to the bottom of the shaft, some 85 feet below. Mr. Amell died Saturday afternoon and Mr. Shapiro died early Sunday morning.

Both men died from fracture of the skull. Mr. Amell suffered a compound fracture of the skull and multiple body bruises and lacerations, and Shapiro sustained a fracture at the base of the skull as well as fractures of the arm and hip.

Castelana Critical.
Samuel Castelana of Shokan, the third man injured, suffered a fracture of the skull and other injuries and his condition this morning was reported as serious at the hospital.

The accident Saturday was the second fatal accident at the shaft involving local workmen. Not long ago Clifford Moore of Kingston was fatally injured and Lawrence Dunne was badly injured in much the same kind of an accident. They, too, had been loosening forms from a concrete pour when a scaffolding loosened and they were thrown from their position.

The scene of Saturday's accident is high on the Shawangunk mountain back of Kerhonkson, where the Dravo Construction Company has a contract for one of the deepest shafts along the aqueduct line. The three men were working on a scaffold some 400 feet down in the shaft when the accident happened. They had been at work but a short time and were engaged in loosening concrete forms from a recent pour.

At Work on Scaffold
According to other workmen on the job the three men were at work on the scaffold when for some reason unknown the scaffold broke and the three men were thrown 85 feet to the bottom of the shaft where they fell in about 18 feet of water. The severe injuries which they suffered apparently were caused by striking the side of the shaft as they dropped. Other men on the job said down the cable in the shaft and supported the three injured men until aid came. Had it not been for the prompt assistance from other workmen the three would have been drowned.

Hoisted in Bucket
When the broken scaffolding had been cleared away the three men were hoisted to the surface in a bucket which had been lowered down the shaft.

First aid was given the men at the scene and they were brought to the Benedictine Hospital by the Humiston Ambulance service of Kerhonkson and placed under the care of Dr. John F. Larkin.

Shapiro's body was turned over to a Brooklyn undertaker and that of Mr. Amell was taken in charge by the W. N. Conner Funeral Home of this city.

Survived by Wife

Amell is survived by his wife, Mrs. Caroline Amell; an infant son, Noel, about six months old; his mother, Mrs. Julia Amell, of Kingston; and nine brothers, John, of Kingston; Ulrich J., of Philadelphia; Joseph R., of Birmingham; Leo, of Kingston; Henry, of Stone Ridge; Raymond, of Sligheshburg; Emil, of New York city; Victor and Theodore, of Kingston.

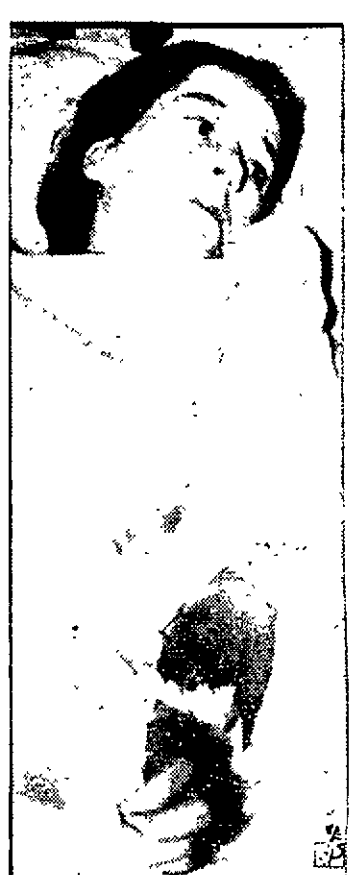

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 9:50 o'clock from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 236 Fair street, and from St. Joseph's Church at 10:15 o'clock, where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

2 KILLED AS GRINDSTONE IN GRIST MILL EXPLODES

HUSBAND SHOT YOUNG MOTHER

"I'm only sorry I didn't kill her," said Leonard Compton, 23, after shooting his wife in a Springfield, O., maternity ward. Mrs. Compton, 20, is shown in hospital after the shooting, slightly wounded on the wrist.

Lowell Thomas Buys 2,000-Acre Dutchess Parcel

Lowell Thomas, famed radio news commentator, who maintains a large estate on Quaker Hill, town of Pawling, Dutchess county, Saturday completed the purchase of the Fred F. French estate, a 2,100 acre property in the towns of Pawling and Dover, and one of the finest country estates in the county.

The deal is believed to be the largest transaction in Dutchess county in years, and is reported to have involved in excess of $250,000 in cash. Development is said to have cost Mr. French in excess of $1,500,000.

Included in the purchase is a Georgian Colonial brick residence of 30 rooms of fireproof construction, which cost $275,000 to build. Mr. Thomas says he does not intend to live upon the property himself, but has in mind dividing the huge estate into smaller plots for restricted use. It is understood that the property was purchased by Mr. Thomas and a group of other Pawling residents to protect the beauty of the countryside.

Mr. Thomas said: "Our understanding was that the property was on the verge of going into the hands of some people who were planning to turn it into a cabin development, of the type which a lot of us thought would be undesirable for Pawling and Dutchess county. The cabin transaction, which I heard about it and tried to save the day, with the result that I am the owner."

Mr. Thomas said the purchase included Lake Hamersley, a glacial lake formerly part of the Louis Gordon Hamersley estate. Five farm houses and a number of other buildings are included on the property, which is assessed for approximately $200,000. The land and buildings were acquired from Mrs. Cordelia French, widow of Fred French, and from Covert L. Goodlove; the bulk was acquired from Mrs. French, who retained a 50-acre parcel for her use as a summer residence.

10 Boys, Leader Safe After Ordeal Near Palenville

Saugerties, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—Ten students and a teacher from the Lake-Watts School for Boys at Tivoli, Dutchess county, lost overnight in the Catskill Mountains near Palenville this morning as state police and Greene county sheriff's deputies searched the countryside.

Sergeant Ralph Fitch of the state police at Catskill said the students were tired and cold after a night spent outdoors in near freezing temperature, but were otherwise all right. The youngsters, ranging in age from 10 to 12 years, set out yesterday morning with John Avery, a member of the school faculty, to climb High Peak, Fitch said. The party expected to return before nightfall, the officer said, but lost its way in the rugged wooded country.

City Capably Managed, States Credit Rating Co.

Whenever an American manufacturer or wholesaler receives an order, he first finds out whether the purchaser is financially responsible. How does he do this?

He gets a credit rating from Dun & Bradstreet, the recognized credit rating company in America.

Dun & Bradstreet do not deal in political buncombe. They deal in hard, true facts. Their rating is final and accepted wherever business is transacted.

Each time Kingston issues bonds, Dun & Bradstreet make an examination and appraisal of the city's financial condition. They then rate the city's credit. This rating is accepted by the various banking houses which bid on the city's bonds. The better the rating, the lower the interest rate which the city must pay.

Dun & Bradstreet checked the credit of the city a few days ago in preparation for the sale of school bonds which will be sold on October 29.

In the last report of Dun & Bradstreet, this is what they said about Kingston:

"Kingston has a conservative governing body, qualified financial officers and a commendable tax collection system.

"Kingston's credit deserves a favorable rating among the smaller cities because of excellent tax collections, balanced current operations AND A CAPABLE MANAGEMENT."

That is how an outside, impartial, world-recognized rating organization evaluates the quality of our local government under Mayor Heiselman.

"Capable management" means increased public services, lower taxes, a real youth program, the ability to properly care for those in need, and a sound credit which permits us to finance needed public improvements and at low rates of interest.

Do you wish to retain the "Capable Management" which has distinguished Mayor Heiselman's administration? You will have an opportunity to say "Yes" on Election Day.

TAKES BABY HOME AFTER SHE IS SHOT BY HUSBAND

Springfield, O., Oct. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Leonard Compton, 20, went home today with her eight-day-old son despite protests of physicians at the hospital where she was wounded slightly in a maternity ward shooting.

Meanwhile Police Lieut. Harry Shuman said a charge of shooting with intent to kill would be lodged against her husband, Leonard Compton, 23-year-old factory worker, who suddenly asserted "I'm only sorry I didn't kill her."

Shuman quoted Compton as saying that he asked his wife who was the father of the baby and she failed to reply.

Mrs. Compton said she was the baby's father. She said they were married May 2, 1936, in Covington, Ky., but had not lived together since last June 13.

Skull Fractured In Tavern Brawl At Marlborough

William Edmonds, a negro of about 30 years of age, said to be from Lowell, Mass., who was brought to the Kingston Hospital Saturday night unconscious as the result of a fractured skull received during a brawl at a Marlborough tavern, was reported by the hospital to be still unconscious this morning and in a very serious condition.

Meanwhile, following an investigation by Sergeant Hulse and Trooper Baker of Highland, the state's sheriff has been started for one Stephen Donaghue, who is wanted for questioning concerning the case.

Donaghue is said to be about 45 years of age and is thought to have come from Yonkers. Both Edmonds and Donaghue are said to be "floaters" and have been picking apples in the vicinity of Marlborough this fall. Edmonds had been living in a hut on the Will Fowler farm at Latintown.

According to the information given Sergeant Hulse, Edmonds and a number of others were in "Gus's Place," a tavern in Marlborough on Route 9-W about 7 o'clock Saturday night, when a number of the white men present objected to Edmonds and a fight started. The trouble started in a back room of the tavern and wound up on the front steps of the building, where Edmonds was hit and knocked down. He fell back down the steps, his head striking the concrete roadway.

Picked up unconscious, Edmonds was taken into the tavern and treated by Dr. W. B. Harris of Marlborough, who summoned the state troopers. When the officers arrived Donaghue had disappeared from the scene.

Treasury's Gross Deficit

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The treasury's gross deficit crossed the half-billion mark October 22 to reach $509,487,311. In his latest budget revision, President Roosevelt forecast the gross deficit at $395,245,000 on next June 30, when this fiscal year ends.

Gunmen Kill Two, Wound Woman in Los Angeles Saloon

Los Angeles, Oct. 25 (AP)—Three gunmen early today invaded a beer parlor here and killed Les Bruneman, night club operator, and another man and wounded Bruneman's woman companion.

Bruneman, who survived an attempted assassination last July, was struck by eight bullets. The other man, identified by police as Frankie Gruenzard, 24, was killed when he ran into the street to attempt to take the license number of the gunmen's sedan.

Alice Ingram, 34, a nurse, was taken to an emergency hospital with a bullet in her left knee. Ordered held as a material witness, Miss Ingram told police she did not recognize Bruneman's slayers.

"I'm living on borrowed time," Bruneman was reported to have told Detective Lieutenant Warren Hudson recently.

"I've got about six weeks more. They'll get me the next time. They won't use the same pair, though. They'll send experts after me the next time."

Two .45 calibre automatics were found on Bruneman's body. One was stuck in his belt, the other in a holster under his vest.

Gruenzard was listed by the coroner as an employee of the beer parlor. Two other men were waiting in the killers' car at the curb.

Detective Captain Hubert Wallis based him immediate investigation on the supposition Bruneman was the victim of a private gambler's war.

Bruneman's costly club at Redondo was closed shortly after the first attempt on his life. Two bookmaking establishments at the resort likewise were shut down.

The moon-faced, smiling operator broke into the headlines in 1930 when he was tried for alleged participation in the $50,000 ransom kidnapping of E. L. (Zeke) Carless, race track handicapper.

Carless, his wife and Japanese chauffeur were abducted by the "Sheldon Gang," several members of which were convicted.

Bruneman was finally acquitted in 1935 at a second trial. The court held he acted merely as a go-between, selected by Carless himself, to cash the ransom checks.

Wilson Assaults Taxi Driver, Takes Car, Is Caught, Gets 30 Days

Negro Hits George Haley Over Head with Bottle and Crashes Car into a Porch in Assault at Getaway.

POLICE FIND HIM

Officers in Patrol Car Near the Scene Find Wilson Hiding in Hallway.

George Haley of 132 Chambers street, a taxi driver employed by Jacob Schultz, had an experience this morning that he will not forget in a hurry, while William Wilson, 29, a negro of 10 Meadow street, who was a passenger in the Haley taxi, was found guilty of assault in the third degree and sentenced to 30 days in jail. In the early morning mixup Haley sustained a bump on his forehead inflicted by a soda water bottle in the hands of Wilson, and the taxi, a Buick, was damaged when it crashed into the porch of the residence of Joseph J. Maroon, 19 Meadow street, badly damaging the porch.

Tells Experience

According to Haley's story as told to the police he had been engaged by Wilson to convey the latter to New Salem where he visited a friend. Then Wilson told Haley he had no money with him to pay the $2 taxi fare but if Haley would drive to the Wilson home on Meadow street he would pay him.

When the taxi drew up in front of the Wilson home Wilson jumped out and went into the house. He was in the house a few minutes and then came out and asked Haley to get out of the car and stop behind the car. Haley, unsuspecting, did so and Wilson asked him if he had change of a $5 bill.

As Haley reached into his pocket Wilson struck him over the forehead with the empty soda water bottle. Haley dropped to the ground stunned and Wilson jumped into the taxi which ran across the street and crashed into the porch of the Maroon house. Wilson then jumped out and ran out toward Broadway.

Recovers to Chase Wilson.

By this time Haley had recovered sufficiently to realize what had happened and ran after the negro.

He met Officers Camp and Welch in one of the radio cars and told them the story. They located the negro in a hallway on Broadway and placed him under arrest.

The negro was taken to police headquarters and a charge of assault in the second degree was lodged against him. Later in police court the charge was reduced to third degree assault and the negro jailed for 30 days.

AND A DUNNY SHALL LEAD THEM, SAYS GOLDWYN

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Samuel Goldwyn, the ex-pans presser who became a movie magnate, has a "colossal" idea, he admitted today to end all "double feature" film programs.

He proposed to make pictures so long—running two hours or more—that no theatre manager would dare to present another film on the same program.

Goldwyn said he thought Charlie McCarthy (he has signed up the little woodenhead) was the greatest entertainer in Hollywood.

"It has come the time when a dummy shall lead them," was the way the producer put it.

Ship Disappears

Perpignan, France, Oct. 25 (AP)—French warships keeping watch on the freighter Oued Mellah, bombed yesterday by an unidentified airplane in the Mediterranean, reported today that the ship disappeared in a rough sea during the night. The ship, which had been abandoned and was drifting in the Mediterranean shipping lane east of Barcelona, Spain, was believed to have sunk.

The French destroyers Milan and Mars arrived at Port Vendres this morning with the Oued Mellah's crew. Naval officials who questioned the crew said they were unable to tell the nationality of the attacking plane which flew at a high altitude.

Santa's Heaviest Pack In 7 Years Promised

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Santa Claus will tote his heaviest pack in seven years this Christmas.

So said toy manufacturers who gave a "preview" of their wares today at a Fifth avenue shop. They estimated $230,000,000 would be spent for toys this year, 10 per cent more than last season.

For the little girl whose daddy was in the income tax lists there were such gadgets as doll houses with electric elevators and dolls that could splash water and cry like a real baby.

For the boy there were crime detection sets and a science scope able to magnify the molecular explosions of lemon juice or soda pop in full colors.

Despite the rumbling of war abroad, less than one per cent of the toys were military in character. A majority were based on hobbies, handicraft or games. But they had to be authentic.

Will Prosecute Bogus Collectors Of Security Funds

Criminal prosecution by the Department of Justice of bogus collectors of funds in connection with the Social Security Act's old-age insurance program has been requested by the Social Security Board, it was announced today by John Form, manager of the Kingston field office.

The board advised the Department of Justice that it has received information of several instances where money has been collected through such misrepresentation, said Mr. Form, and requested the department to investigate them and institute criminal proceedings. In announcing its action, the board stated:

"The Social Security Board has no 'old-age benefits collectors,' 'old-age insurance collectors,' or any other kind of collectors or financial agents. It has authorized no one to collect any fees from participants in the old-age insurance program. We wish to caution everyone against making any payments whatever to persons representing themselves as agents of the board and who guarantee the payment of old-age insurance."

Insurgent Dictator Concentrates Forces to End Spanish Civil War Before Winter Bogs Down His Troops.

6 DAYS OF FIGHTING

Japanese Push Unsuccessful as Kai-Shek's Troops Resist Onslaught against Shanghai.

(By The Associated Press)

Insurgent Generalissimo Franco, dictator of insurgent Spain, prepared today for a new, gigantic offensive in an effort to end the civil war before fighting is bogged by wintry weather.

His grasp on northwestern Spain secure, Franco concentrated his troops—Italians among them—at Zaragoza, 175 miles northeast of Madrid.

His objective was to cut government Spain—the section south and east from Madrid to the Mediterranean—from the allied, autonomous Catalan state in northeast Spain.

Such a wedge would facilitate Franco's efforts to keep supplies from the government armies and enhance his prospects for a subsequent drive against Madrid and Valencia.

Other facts of the Spanish war: The French freighter Oued Mellah was bombed in the Mediterranean by an unidentified airplane, and the British liner Kader-T-Hind radiated that an unidentified seaplane dropped two bombs near a submarine—both incidents apparently marking a new outbreak of "pirate" attacks in great sea.

The Valencia government reported two Italian bombers, presumably attached to the insurgent army, were destroyed on the northern Mediterranean coast.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden sought, with little likelihood of success, to cool Franco and Russia, favoring government Spain, and Italy and Germany, favoring insurgent Spain, to agree on methods and numbers of foreign fighters to be withdrawn from Spanish armies. The non-intervention subcommittee will meet tomorrow to resume debate on the volunteer withdrawals.

Meanwhile, in the Chinese-Japanese war, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese forces held off a Japanese offensive for six days and nights of heavy fighting on the 25 mile Shanghai front.

Furious fighting continued amid the ruins of the key communication center of Tazauk, about five miles north of Shanghai.

Massing Troops

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 25 (AP)—Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco today began massing troops at Zaragoza for an offensive to cut Catalonia from the part of Spain still held by the government.

Frontier reports said heavy forces of Italian soldiers from Morocco were moving into Zaragoza. The Italian "Black Arrow" division also was reported moving to that sector.

Insurgent headquarters at Salamanca published a telegram from Premier Mussolini to Franco expressing the dictator's "personal felicitations" for his conquest of northern Spain.

"Learning the news that the northern front has collapsed, thanks to the effort of your brave indefatigable infantry—the news was received with the greatest enthusiasm by all Italy—I send you my personal friendly felicitations," Mussolini said.

Replying, Franco said his "heroic infantry was proud of the victory given it by the glorious creation of the great noble Italian empire" and said he received Mussolini's telegram with "great emotion."

Earlier reports said government forces yielded ground on the Aragon front in northeast Spain to what officers called "superior numbers" of insurgents.

Franco's troops occupied the hermitage of San Pedro in the Sabinigo sector after laying down an artillery barrage and twice attacking with Morrish infantry.

Insurgent also reported a victory at Pueblo De Aborton, where infantry was said to have seized "trenches abandoned by the enemy in which were found bodies, guns, supplies and clothing."

Franco announced that complete domination of North Spain gives the insurgents control of 72 per cent of the nation's population and 66 per cent of its territory.

The seizure by the insurgent cruiser Almirante Cervera of two ships transporting 150 fleeing Asturian Officials was reported by Franco's headquarters.

Manager of HOLC Tells of New Measures

(Because of many inquiries from various sources as to the effect of legislation which would reduce the interest rate and extend the period of amortization of Home Owners' Loan Corporation loans, the following statement has been prepared by Charles A. Jones, General Manager, Home Owners' Loan Corporation, Washington, D. C.)

In 1933 Congress assigned to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation the task of paying the debts of American families who were facing foreclosure and eviction. During its three-year lending period, it made this protection possible for 1,021,817 in critical distress by granting to them mortgage loans totaling $2,092,870,784, at the lowest rate of interest and over the longest payment period ever before created in the history of the country. Congress in effect said to the Corporation, "Your job is to see that this protection is available to every deserving American in danger of losing his home. These citizens are not objects of charity—each is to be given the opportunity to engage in a legitimate business deal with definite contractual obligations on both sides. In this way only can the beneficiaries of this Act retain their self-respect."

Designed to Save Homes
It was well understood that the Act did not contemplate the wiping out of individual debt or that the Federal Government would assume that debt. Qualifying home owners whose credit was established were to be given an opportunity to save their homes by use of the credit of the Federal Government. No one doubted that most of these American home owners would ultimately be able to discharge their mortgage obligations and pay their debts in full. However, they badly needed a breathing spell and the positive assurance that the Government would cooperate with them in keeping the roof over their heads. It was believed that in due time, as recovery began to set in, they would "get back on their feet."

In their movement for $3 down and 25 cents a month. This is the group which sponsored one of the bills introduced at the last session of Congress. Nowhere has gross membership of HOLC borrowers of any size been built up. Despite numerous and vigorous efforts of promoters to hold public meetings, all have been poorly attended and little evidence of interest has been created anywhere.

No Demands Made
Among the persons most concerned, those who enjoy the advantages of an HOLC loan, there is no real demand for a change in the law. Instead there is a general indication of the judgment of the time the act was approved. The vast majority of HOLC borrowers, in recognition of the fact that they have more favorable mortgages on their homes than their neighbors and in grateful appreciation of the direct help they received in a critical emergency are leaving no stone unturned to meet their obligations. Most of them are now either current or practically so. Of those behind, the majority are catching up on their delinquencies. For the past year, collections have averaged 97 per cent of current monthly accruals, and in some months they have exceeded 100 per cent.

Early Rush
There was a general rush to the offices of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation as fast as they were opened. By the tens of thousands came home owners in all stages of distress to file their applications for assistance. Some had already lost their properties through foreclosures and the titles had passed to other hands. Many were two or three years behind on payments of interest and principal and the majority had not paid their taxes for as long a period. There were others whose property was heavily encumbered by second and third mortgages which carried heavy fines and exorbitant rates of interest.

Among those helped by the corporation were some who apparently had no intention of meeting their obligations. Others accepted loans hoping and believing the government would never actually make a real effort to enforce repayment. A few negotiated loans in all good faith who would never be able to meet their obligations, due to no fault of their own.

Order Resulted
Out of this cataclysm of worry, hopelessness and suffering, in less than three years, has come order, hope and confidence for home owners. Throughout the United States their shattered morale has been replaced by firm faith. The comparative few who have failed in spite of help to retain their homes only serve to emphasize the great progress made by the majority. This remarkable record is given in detail in the file of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

During the last session of Congress several bills were introduced to cut the rate of interest on HOLC loans from the present low rate of 5 per cent to rates ranging as low as 2 1/2 per cent and to extend the amortization period from the present 15 years to periods ranging up to 30 years. It is significant that the agitation for a revision of the HOLC mortgage terms must not spring at all from any spontaneous movement of HOLC borrowers. It came from a few small groups of men who thought they saw an opportunity to make money at the expense of borrowers. One group, for instance, advertised for field men, organized a training school for collectors and sent them to HOLC mortgagors to sell memberships.

Argument of Change
The principal reason advanced by those who advocate a change in HOLC terms is that since it has been obliged to foreclose large numbers of cases, interest rates have been cut and amortization lengthened to protect remaining borrowers from foreclosure.

The answer is that a lower interest rate on a longer amortization period would have given little or no benefit to those borrowers already foreclosed. Their arrangements in interest and taxes alone were far greater than any saving a lower interest rate and longer amortization would have provided them. From a practical standpoint, it scarcely seems that borrowers who either could not or would not pay anything for nearly two years, in addition to accumulated taxes, could be expected to meet a revised obligation, such as those proposed, which would in any case save them only a few dollars a month.

The Act gives the HOLC wide latitude and its policy is such that few if any of those who may face future foreclosure can possibly be saved by the small difference these two proposed factors can make in the size of their obligations. A 3 1/2 per cent interest rate would make a difference of but $2.25 per month in the payments due on the average HOLC loan of $3,000 at the current 5 per cent on a 15 year amortization. A borrower so close to the margin would rarely face foreclosure. If the interest rate were fixed at 3 1/2 per cent and the amortization period extended to 20 years, the total financial benefit of the borrower would amount to only $95.40. If, as proposed in some of the bills, the amortization period at the 3 1/2 per cent rate were extended to thirty years, the borrower would be obliged to pay a total of $577.50 more than he would pay under his present contract.

Fallacy of Profit
It is a fallacy to assume that the difference between the cost of money to the HOLC and the interest rate its borrowers is profit which can be applied to a reduction of the interest rate. All mortgage lending institutions must of necessity not only take operating expenses out of interest received, but from their receipts they must set up reserves to meet losses on defaulting mortgages. If the HOLC cannot build up reserves beyond operating expenses to meet its losses, the United States Treasury must pay the difference.

If the interest rates on HOLC loans are reduced from 5 per cent it is sure to have a direct and immediate effect upon interest rates on other mortgage loans. As is commonly known, many of the large investors in farm mortgages have restricted their investments in this market since the government rate of interest on farm mortgages was reduced to 3 1/2 per cent. A similar effect is likely to result from lowering of the interest rates to HOLC borrowers and thus influence injuriously the home mortgage market when large funds are needed for new housing.

While it is true that the borrowers of the HOLC represent only one out of every 24 non-farm families in the United States, the HOLC is the largest single holder of non-farm mortgages in the United States and any action affecting its rates would be reflected in the rates of interest on other mortgages. This action would, in turn, affect the income of those whose savings are invested in mortgages. There are approximately fifty million savings accounts in building and loan associations, mutual savings banks, savings departments of commercial banks and in similar institutions in the United States. In addition, there are approximately 65 million holders of life insurance policies whose savings would be affected by a reduction of HOLC interest rates.

Analysis of Points
An analysis of the situation then leads to these conclusions: The suggested changes would have little or no effect on future foreclosures.

The proposed changes would result in heavy losses which the taxpayers would ultimately have to pay.

There is no real desire or demand on the part of HOLC borrowers for such changes.

HOLC collections are continually improving and its rate of foreclosures has passed the peak.

The HOLC must be permitted to build up reserves to meet losses.

A lowering of interest rates would seriously influence the general home mortgage market.

The savings of millions of people in mortgage lending institutions would be adversely affected.

2 Local Hospitals Approved Today By National Group

Two Kingston hospitals, the Benedictine and Kingston, are on the approved list for 1937 of 2,621 hospitals in the nation, according to a report given out today at the clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons, now being held at Chicago.

Speaking today at the 20th annual hospital standardization conference, Dr. George C. Crile, chairman of the board of regents, said:

"The 1937 hospital standardization survey concludes two decades of successful effort by the American College of Surgeons to assist the hospitals of the United States and Canada in rendering better care of the sick and injured. Today 2,621 hospitals are awarded full or provisional approval. At the end of the first field survey in 1918, only 89 hospitals were sufficiently well equipped, organized and administered to merit approval."

Capacity of the Benedictine Hospital is listed at 84, and the Kingston Hospital at 133.

Time & Eastern Standard

New York, Oct. 25 (AP).—When Amos and Andy change sponsors the first of January, after nine years of network broadcasting on NBC under the same auspices, it is possible their present place will be taken by Walt Disney, screen cartoonist. Arrangements have been completed, but as proposed the Disney program, to be filled with his mythical movie characters, would be a half-hour a week instead of five 15-minute spots a week as used by Amos and Andy. However, it is the understanding that A. and A. although having a different sponsor, will continue at their present time and five-day-a-week schedule.

NEW TRAFFIC CODE

By Police Lieutenants PHINNEY and SIMPSON

Lieutenant Charles Phinney of the Kingston police department calls attention to the safety zones that have been established in the city. He writes:

"The legislative body of a city is authorized by ordinance to maintain and regulate SAFETY ZONES within its boundaries, and that is just what our legislative body has done within the limits of this city; and for what reason? So as pedestrians will feel that while walking in a SAFETY ZONE they are safe from motorists who on many occasions thoughtlessly drive upon the highway in such a manner as to jeopardize the rights of persons on foot. SAFETY ZONES are always marked out plainly or roped off so as to assure pedestrians just what this article calls for, and that is, a SAFE PLACE to walk or to wait for transportation as the case might be without molestation or fear of injury on the part of the motorist.

It is unlawful for any person to drive a motor vehicle in a SAFETY ZONE unless otherwise permitted by local ordinance or regulation, in which event such permission shall be indicated on a legible and conspicuously displayed sign at each SAFETY ZONE where passing to the left is permitted. Therefore, it is the duty of the motorist to give the same consideration to the pedestrian who is complying with their part of the ordinance as they themselves would expect if they happened to be without their automobiles and wanted to proceed to some given point on foot without molestation on the part of others who are operating their cars. Make it a practice while operating your automobile to do so in a careful and prudent manner, especially in SAFETY ZONE territory, you will never be criticized for being considerate of others unless it might be the road-hog who is following you and is in a hurry to get nowhere, and if you will notice, you will find that such person is generally the one who has his name in the paper as having had his operator's license suspended by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles for his inconsiderate acts.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

AP Science Editor

New York—Of all odd things in the world number one is possibly the roaring sands of the Kalahari desert in Africa.

A. D. Lewis has just had as much fun as a boy with a new sled, while making a scientific investigation of the road. He slid, down dunes on the seat of his pants.

This happened in an elongated patch of white sand near the south-east corner of the desert.

The roars are confined to this area.

Mr. Lewis slid in bitches. With every slide the sand under his pants roared with a noise audible six yards. It sounded, he said, like distant thunder.

The noise appears, he concluded, whenever the sand is pushed "in a heaped-up manner." Sticking fingers in the sand and moving them up and down made the roar. Upward motion produced a higher pitch than downward.

Inspection showed that the sand grains were more rounded and of more uniform size than in the surrounding desert. A sackful, taken back to Pretoria, would roar whenever the bag was tilted. But if the bag was left open a few weeks, the roar disappeared. It could be restored for a short time by heating the sand in an oven.

Milk uses two weapons to ward off the Common Enemy

Start warding off this winter's colds now. It's a wise thing to do and it's easy and pleasant. Simply add a fresh glass of milk to your daily menu.

Milk contains two well-known cold-resisting benefits. First, it offers you an alkaline effect. But what is more important, milk is a rich source of Vitamin A, the anti-infective vitamin. This vitamin, which supplies protection against respiratory troubles, can be stored by the system. Thus today's glass of milk can help you months from now. The Bureau of Milk Publicity, Albany.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Recent Normal School Activities

New Paltz, Oct. 23.—Dr. Arnold R. Verdun, head of the History Dept., has organized an International Relations Forum. The first meeting was held at his home on Huguenot street, Thursday evening.

Dr. Verdun has said the meetings will be very informal and will be held twice a month and that there would probably be no officers elected as a business meeting would be too formal. The club will be open for all Normal School students interested in international relations and care to discuss them. The entire meeting will consist of an open forum. The subject for discussion on Thursday evening was: The present Chinese-Japanese undeclared war.

The Outing Club enjoyed a moonlight hike to Mohonk Friday, October 15. The hikers reached Sky Top about 6:30 and found the fire warden had been called away so they had to make their own fire for roasting frankfurters. They also sang songs and played games. Those who attended were: Evelyn Tooker, Margery McCabe, Theresa Candrea, Elsie Wheat, Bob Davis, Elizabeth Coulter, Emily Brengel, Joan Brucker, Ethel Stottle, Marjorie Brown, Evelyn Shields, Ruth Patterson, Helen Edict, Evelyn Van Kleek, Elizabeth Terry, Elsie Mayhew, Evelyn Epstein, Esther Thompson and Jennie Horst.

Doris Russell Alumna visited the Clonian Sorority during the week-end.

Beatrice Lebowitz, Larry Marshall, Beatrice Pakula and Shirley Wesley explored the campus at Vassar in Poughkeepsie on Tuesday.

Shirley Pearson class of 1937, Doris Wallace, "Peg" Lemon, and Kay Ross, all of the 1936 class, attended the inter-fraternity prom on Saturday evening.

Over 100 couples attended the annual Inter-Fraternity Prom, which was held on Saturday, October 16. The gymnasium was decorated with blue and white columns and Greek statues carried out the Grecian theme. Bobby Nelson's broadcasting orchestra furnished swing music. Over 30 members of the alumni returned for the dance.

The Clonian Sorority will hold its rush party Monday evening, October 26.

Kortright-Bowen.

New Paltz, Oct. 25.—A pretty autumn wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Van Keuren Bowen of White Plains on Saturday, October 16, when their daughter, Katherine Elizabeth, became the bride of Irving Kortright of New Paltz. The parlor of the Bowen home was decorated with autumn leaves, bitter sweet and autumn flowers. The ceremony took place within a bower of the autumn arrangement at the end of the parlor with a chancel rail in front. The Lohengrin wedding march was played. The Rev. P. S. Walters, pastor of the Memorial M. E. Church, officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her mother's wedding gown of white satin and princess lace, with a veil of white princess lace. Her bouquet was white chrysanthemums. Ruth Bowen, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and she was dressed in green lace and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The maid of honor, Katherine Henry, of New York city, was dressed in yellow and carried rust and yellow chrysanthemums. Charles Fier of New Paltz, was best man. The ring ceremony was used. ## John J. Schwenk Popular Official

JOHN J. SCHWENK

One of the most popular and efficient members of the city administration is Alderman-at-large John J. Schwenk who is the Republican candidate to succeed himself this fall. Judging him by his record alone President Schwenk will undoubtedly be returned to office on November 2, by an even larger majority than that given him two years ago when he was swept into office by one of the largest majorities ever given a candidate in a political election in Kingston.

President Schwenk is a modest, unassuming man who lets his acts speak for him. Always deeply interested in the boys of the city he is probably the only official in the country who devotes his entire salary from the city to carrying on boys' work and activities. He is the sponsor of the Schwenk Boys' Club, which is doing an exceptionally fine piece of work for young boys.

President Schwenk entered the political arena in 1931 when he was elected alderman of the Third ward, being re-elected alderman again the following term, and appointed Alderman-at-Large by the Common Council in 1934 upon the succession of C. J. Heiselman to the office of Mayor. In 1935, by an overwhelming majority, Mr. Schwenk was elected Alderman-at-Large.

While representing the Third ward, Mr. Schwenk introduced a resolution to permit the payment of taxes in installments and for more than a year presented arguments as to the necessity for such a change, with the result that the council adopted it as a local law.

During all Mr. Schwenk's time in public office he has missed only one regular or special meeting of the council, or any committee of which he is a member, and that was while attending the State Mayors' Conference in Syracuse, as directed by the Common Council. Throughout Mayor Heiselman's recent illness, Mr. Schwenk was to be found every day at the city hall, giving close attention to the business of the mayor's office, which first hand experience has given him a thorough knowledge and training in conducting municipal affairs to the best interest of the citizens.

Mr. Schwenk is married and has two daughters, Virginia and Ellen, ages 13 and 8. He is a member of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, Elks, Moose, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Boys' Work Committee of the Y. M. C. A., the District Committee of the Boy Scouts, and Chairman of the Ulster County Advisory Committee of the National Youth Administration.

During the World War Mr. Schwenk enlisted in the army and served with the 32nd Division, 107th Field Signal Battalion in France, and was also a member of the Army of Occupation, stationed at Coblenz, Germany.

Mr. Schwenk is a son of Christian Schwenk, who for more than 40 years operated the well-known Schwenk's bakery on Foxhall avenue, which of late years has been managed by his brothers, Herman and Fred.

Education in School No. 5, and later attending night high school while employed in New York city.

Mr. Schwenk has for the past 12 years held a responsible position in the Kingston office of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

SCHWENK'S RECORD

One of the outstanding public officials of Kingston is Alderman-at-large John J. Schwenk, who as president of the Common Council has worked for the best interests of the city. He has cooperated with Mayor C. J. Heiseleman and other city officials in the program of sound business principles as applied to municipal government. That this program has been successful is shown by the improved municipal services at less cost, and the lowest tax rates in the past ten years.

Alderman-at-large Schwenk is seeking re-election on the record he has made during his term of office as head of the city's legislative body. That record stands without criticism from his political opponents. He is a close student of municipal affairs, and his experience as acting mayor during the illness of Mayor Heiseleman gave him first hand knowledge of city affairs.

President Schwenk has been especially interested in the Heiseleman administration's youth program and has devoted considerable of his time to that project. He is without doubt the only city official in the country who devotes the entire salary he receives as an alderman-at-large to carrying on boys' work in Kingston. He is the sponsor of the Schwenk Boys' Club, an organization that is doing a worthwhile job with boys in the city.

President Schwenk's record, both as a private and public official, stands unchallenged. There is no question but that he will again preside at the council sessions during the next two years in the same efficient manner that he has in the past.

THE MARKET MYSTERY

The tremendous downward plunge of the stock market, reaching its bottom on October 18 and 19, remains mysterious. Most of the economists and market authorities seem to find no adequate cause for it. There were some reasons for a price reaction, they admit, in business and political conditions, but nothing explaining the severity of the bear movement. The New York Times said editorially on October 20, when the tide was turning:

Probably we shall know more of the facts when the present episode is over. The theory that a similar spectacular decline has been foreshadowed in production, consumption and trade activities in general is dismissed by practically all impartial and experienced observers. Steel production has undoubtedly decreased, during the past few weeks, with unusual rapidity. But when steel production in the first quarter of 1937, with railway construction orders admittedly slack, broke all records for the period, running 5,957,801 tons above the same three months in 1936, or nearly 54 per cent, and when it was perfectly well known that middlemen had covered their requirements far beyond what was usual, because of a coming advance in steel prices and because of fear that C.I.O. would block deliveries, the usual inference will hardly be drawn.

As to how far the once traditional support of a crumbling market by large and conservative capitalists, interested in the profits, has been handicapped by SEC decrees aimed against "specialist trading" and "buying for insiders" that is another story.

If the Ethiopian in the woodpile came from that quarter—if the stock market crumbled because large groups of capitalists failed as usual to bolster it in time of stress—the story should be told fearlessly, with the reasons for that attitude.

PICTURE CRAZE

Camera activity in this country is growing incredibly. It isn't the professional photographers either. People seem to be developing a mania for private photography.

dealers report that they are selling far more cameras than ever before, for all kinds of photographic work. The new high-speed cameras have a good deal to do with this, serving as they do the current love for "candid" pictures. So do the small movie cameras available everywhere. The great volume of amateur photography goes along with a development of newspaper and magazine photography such as was never imagined a few years ago, and likewise a great expansion in the field of news films for the movie theatres. And soon, no doubt, will come television, bringing another great expansion of visual interest and the means of ministering to it.

The nation is certainly "picture-conscious." And the eye is so far outstripping the ear as a means of information and entertainment that a thoughtful person naturally wonders what effect all of this will have on the radio business. Perhaps it will be saved by combining with television.

LOCAL HOSPITALS APPROVED

The Kingston Hospital and Benedictine Hospital have been approved by the American College of Surgeons following the 1937 survey which was concluded in October. The College regards its announcement of its approved list as a contribution to progress in health standards, evidencing as it does the hearty cooperation of the hospitals themselves in improving their ability to render efficient care for the sick.

The fact that one out of every 14 persons in the United States and Canada went to some hospital in 1936, with the probability that the same ratio will be maintained in 1937, suggests how important hospitals are to every community. In recent years the public confidence in hospitals and public use of them have increased greatly. Hospitals have changed too, not merely in increasing their efficiency and extending their service but in becoming less austere and more attractive. The bleakness and loneliness of a stay in the hospital has been lessened, while nursing skill and scientific care have been maintained at a high standard.

By MARGARET CURION HERZOG

The Characters
 Nina is trying to escape from her desperate love for her stepfather by marrying David.
 Richard, the charming, well-to-do suitor, returns her love and revives her marriage.
 Honey, Nina's gay, plump, youthful mother, is crazy about Richard, her recently acquired husband.
 David, a young auto salesman who seduces Nina, elopes with her—at Nina's suggestion.

Chapter 19

'You're Poor Now, Baby'

NINA and David drove to the Pickwick Arms, in Greenwich.
 Then David became unexpectedly serious for a moment.
 "Darling, no matter how hastily I may thank your stepfather put it, he's right in one thing. I'm not up to you. I know it, and I want to do everything in my power to pull myself up and be worthy of you."

She tried to stop him but he went on: "Somewhere in my make-up I have a finer sensibility or two, and I realize all the splendid things about you, Nina," he said simply, "I—I worship you."
 He looked at her with all the worship he felt in his eyes.

Nina regarded his fine, clean-cut face and thought, "I should have Richard. I should have him." And then she was in David's arms.
 The next morning, David had a few things on his mind.

"It seems a little thing to mention, Miss Day, but we really ought to think of plans, a little... you ought to wire your mother, oughtn't you? I've only got one old grouchy uncle in Syracuse to bother about. And we've got to decide what to do with ourselves."
 Suddenly, David looked overwhelmed at something.

"Gosh, Nina, do you realize that you're poor now, baby, poor?"
 Nina laughed at the concerned expression on David's face.

"I knew a nursery rhyme, once, that said: 'Poor in... something or other, Rich in... something else.'"
 "Well, now, that's quite comforting, isn't it?"

No Honeymoon

"DAVID, having you had made up your mind about this? Let's forget about the money."
 "That's the trouble, when you're in my state you can't forget about it. I don't like to look a wedding in the mouth, as it were, but this room is costing me an awful lot of money... Could you forego a honeymoon, Nina, and get a little apartment, right away?"

"Of course! We could honeymoon anywhere... I'll be getting a tiny place. Can you get a few days off?"

David said he could.
 When David was paying the hotel bill, Nina sent a wire to her mother.

LIKE MOTHER, LIKE DAUGHTER. The wife who had JUST MARRIED HUSBAND YOUNG MAN WITH COLORED HAIR, NINA, OF NEW YORK, APPROVED HIM. RICHARD IN EAR-CONFORMING RAGE, SO SOOTHED HIS DAUGHTER. AT LAST, HE SAID, WILL YOU DETAILS LOVE AND LOVE, AND THEN SOME.

NINA DAY.
 Wouldn't Honey be surprised? They motored back to town in the ramshackle, borrowed car, and there seemed nothing to do but go to another hotel—a cheap one—until they could find a place of their own.

Nina had never heard of the one in the West Forties that they decided on, but the room was big, and clean, and she didn't care about anything else.

Since they weren't having a honeymoon, David decided to splurge for one night, and go to the theater.

"Next time you make up your mind to marry me," he told Nina, "I'll be off ahead of time."
 "I'd do it just the same way again," she said blithely, "so you'd better get used to being swept off your feet."

David ruffled her hair, and kissed her. "I'll never get used to the idea of your being in love with me. It's too wonderful to be true."
 Nina felt a pang of guilt at that.

Dear David... He must never know. She began to talk quickly... making a noise to shut off her thoughts.

"Where are we going? Shall we be gay and musical, or serious and dramatic? Orchestra, or second balcony? Formal or everyday?"

"We'll compromise," said David. "We'll sit in the first balcony, but take a taxi. That will get us off to a good start. And let's see a revue."

Curfew Shall Not Ring—

Grants Pass, Ore.—City councilmen decreed nightly curfew should be resumed, but policemen refused to ring the bell, saying they couldn't leave their posts.

Firemen said they wouldn't ring it unless the council got them a new clock—they didn't want to be blamed for untimely tolling. They got the clock.

Came curfew time and a fireman tugged and tugged, but no curfew.

CORONARY OCCLUSION

A man of 60, meeting a physician acquaintance on the street, said to him, "I've got a touch of indigestion—a couple of pork chops, have you anything in your bag that will relieve it?" The physician gave him a couple of tablets and thought no more about it.

Three hours later, the patient died of "acute indigestion" apparently. However, an autopsy revealed that he had died of coronary heart disease or coronary occlusion (blocking of a blood vessel) as it is called, and his history showed that he had suffered with a number of these attacks of so-called "indigestion."

Dr. Bernard S. Kleinman, in Hygeia, says, "Coronary heart disease is the result of wear and tear on the blood vessels in general and on those of the walls of the heart in particular."

In a series of 145 cases at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston it has been shown that many of these patients had been suffering from diabetes or abnormally high blood pressure. It stands to reason that these two conditions should lead to coronary occlusion because the lining of the blood vessels in diabetes and high blood pressure become hardened, clay-like and brittle in patches.

If a particle of such brittle patch becomes detached, this particle is carried in the blood stream until it reaches such a point that it cannot proceed any farther and at this point occludes or blocks the circulation of the blood.

The pain of an attack of coronary occlusion, while occurring in the same region as in angina pectoris—spasm—that is under the breast bone and up into left shoulder and arm, is more severe, more prostrating, the patient being cold, clammy, and ashen gray and often bathed in perspiration.

Dr. Kleinman emphasizes the following points:

1. Coronary occlusion is caused by the wear and tear of the blood vessels that nourish the walls of the heart.

2. Diabetes and those with high blood pressure are somewhat predisposed to this disease.

3. It occurs in middle age and during the latter half of life.

4. The symptoms in many cases are not clear-cut, and may be thought to be acute indigestion.

An electro-cardiograph examination is necessary for recognition of these doubtful cases.

5. Coronary occlusion is a grave but not a hopeless disease, if the condition is promptly recognized and proper treatment is begun at once.

Historic Houses of Kingston

No. 8—Dr. Elmendorf Mansion

The present home of Dr. and Mrs. E. Forrest Sibley, located on Main street between Wall and Green streets, was once the property of Dr. James C. Elmendorf, and during the Revolutionary War period, when Dr. Elmendorf made his residence there, the house was considered one of the mansions of the community.

The exact date of its construction is unknown as is also the name of its builder, but the house has been known to Kingston residents for many years as the Dr. Elmendorf house, and it is quite probable that the ancestors of the man whose name the house bears, were responsible for the magnificent structure.

Old records show that the house was one of the originals in the stockade which formed the beginning of the town of Kingston.

The walls of the house are two feet thick in places, showing that its construction was a bit sturdier than other of the historic houses whose walls measure some 18 inches across. Embedded in the rear wall is part of a tombstone bearing the inscription, "James C. Elmendorf, Dec. 10, 1854, aged 82 years, 9 mo. & 16 ds."

Tradition has it that only the rear of the Elmendorf house, used as a kitchen, suffered from the British torch, and the attic of the house contains beams charred at the ends where the original kitchen addition once stood, supporting this story of only a partial destruction. Following the burning of Kingston, the kitchen was rebuilt, but of frame construction, lined with brick. At the present time the house contains 14 rooms with many of the original ceiling beams in plain view. Several of the rooms contain the remains of huge fireplaces, which were remodeled some years ago into more modern contrivances.

Dr. and Mrs. Sibley have resided in the Elmendorf house for 21 years, purchasing it from the family of James E. Ostrander, who were descendants of the Elmendorf family. The present owners have endeavored to restore much of the grandeur of the old mansion whose architecture is still a different example of the ideas of comfortable homes as built by the Colonial ancestors.

The stock market was 163,887 calls in England and Wales in the second quarter of this year—6,000 more than in the corresponding period of 1936.

When a Western Union messenger rushed up to Sheila Barrett the other day and thrust a telegram in her hand, the murex it open, glanced at it quickly, and broke out laughing. She was at the moment being hauled to a large gathering of Broadway people, and the telegram was from Noel Coward:

"Mr. Coward regrets that he is unable to attend Miss Barrett's party but Mr. Coward is detained in the country. Mr. Coward is, Signed: Mr. Coward."

The Scribner office is breathing easier and is exhibiting this letter from Alan Villiers, the English author whose new book they are bringing out this fall:

"I crashed in an airplane accident the other day," wrote Villiers, "A damned seagull hit me in the face as I was coming in to land, and it knocked me out. Then I seem to have crashed. Anyway, the machine is a utter wreck. But I escaped with a few knocks about the skull. Good thing it was my head or I might have been seriously injured."

JEAN MUIR has decided to remain in town awhile and has taken an apartment in exclusive Sutton Place, where the skyscrapers come down to meet the slums and where the Kings-They were to write "Dead End."

Tall, lanky Robert Sherwood, who has "Idiot's Delight," "Reunion in Vienna," and a whole memory book filled with other plays, came back from a long stay in England just in time to go down with bronchial-pneumonia. He's flat on his back in his East End apartment and expects to be there another week. His doctors won't let him talk to anybody.

George Abbott, usually the most affable of men, doesn't like visitors during play rehearsals. Whenever a caller sticks his head in the theater, Abbott scowls worse than Dempsey used to when he gave an opponent the once-over.

Stickiness

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

SWEET FACE, the lamb; Rip, the dog, and Christopher Columbus Crow were on their way back to Puddle Muddle with the mulligan for the little gnomes-like man's ears. Willy Nilly had given them the money for it and had written a note to the shop keeper but on their return trip home the mulligan bottle had broken on a rock when Sweet Face, pulling the express cart, had drawn too suddenly to the side of the road.

They had managed, however, to get some of the mulligan back in an old tin they had found and once more they were on their way to Puddle Muddle. Christopher Columbus Crow now sat in the express cart with Rip.

"Oh, dear dog me," sighed Rip, "I am afraid the mulligan is leaking out of the tin. My feet are sticky."

"So are mine," agreed Christopher, "and some of it is on my wings."

"It's leaking right through the express cart," bleated Sweet Face. "It has trickled down over my feet. I can't pull this cart any more. My feet stick to the ground."

"The tin has a hole in it," exclaimed Christopher as he saw what had happened. "We're a mess. The express cart is in a dreadful condition and there is practically no mulligan left."

"Wait for a moment!" bleated Sweet Face. "Perhaps you can pull out some of my wool and we can stop the leak."

"We haven't any scissors," said Rip. "But I'll see if I can't get some of your wool off with my teeth."

"Ouch!" exclaimed Sweet Face. "That isn't going to work out," said Christopher Columbus Crow sadly.

Hawaiian Is Held By Police in Death Of Woman Today

Honolulu Oct. 25 (AP)—A blood descendant of Hawaii's one-time picturesque native rulers was held today while authorities investigated the violent death of his pretense common-law wife in a cottage on palm-bordered Waikiki Beach.

David Kalakaua Kawanakoa, grand-nephew of the late King David Kalakaua, was held for investigation and Police Lieutenant John Troche said he might be charged with second degree murder or manslaughter of 22-year-old Arvilla Kinslea, half-white, half-Hawaiian.

Miss Kinslea's body was found yesterday sitting in a chair, wrapped in a blood-soaked sheet. An artery in her neck was severed and her face was lacerated. She had been dead for some time.

Police Lieutenant Thomas Quinn expressed belief Kalakaua struck Miss Kinslea with a soap box part of which was found with hair on them. He said Kalakaua apparently carried the woman to another room and seated her in a chair while he attempted to slouch the blood.

Quinn said Kalakaua's only coherent remark was "I ducked." Quinn said he took this to mean Miss Kinslea threw something at him. He quoted the man as saying "I'll take the rap for it, I'll serve for it."

Major Bernard J. Tocher, U. S. Army, recently of 1st Leavenworth, who was in the cottage told Quinn he heard sounds of scuffling. Then, he said, Kalakaua carried the woman from the kitchen, placed her in a chair and called a hospital.

Quinn said Kalakaua was on probation as result of a manslaughter conviction growing out of an automobile accident in 1932.

FOUR KILLED, SEVEN HURT IN TACOMA PLANE CRASH

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 23 (AP)—County officials and representatives of the U. S. Bureau of Air Commerce planned an investigation today into an airplane crash here Saturday which took four lives and sent seven persons to hospital.

The plane, a tri-motored (Stinson) eight-seater craft, pancaked after rising 25 feet from the ground.

Henry Peters To Inherit New York Oct. 25 (Special)—Henry Peters of Kingston will eventually receive half the estate of his father, the late John H. Peters of Brooklyn, whose estate was appraised in Brooklyn Superior Court Saturday.

The money will go for life to the widow, Mrs. Mary Peters of this city, and then equally to the son and a daughter. Mr. Peters died May 22. His estate was appraised today at $8,394, gross value, and $1,521 net, the reduction resulting from debts and administration expenses.

10,000,000 IN U. S. WILL HAVE HOSPITAL INSURANCE, 1942.

Chicago, Oct. 25 (AP)—Ten million Americans will have hospital insurance by 1942 at the present rate of growth of this new adjunct to medical care.

This report was made today at the opening of the American College of Surgeons annual meeting, by C. Rufus Rorem of Chicago, director of the committee on hospital insurance of the American Hospital Association.

But he said, on present trends, the 10 million will be mostly in certain seaboard cities and in the industrial population as far west as Ohio. Extension of hospital insurance to rural communities, he said, must wait on some effective way of enrolling subscribers and collecting fees.

At present he said there are a million and a quarter Americans using hospital insurance.

New York city has the largest number of persons with hospital insurance, 500,000.

To date under these plans which started four years ago, 50,000 persons have received hospital service. The insured are now going into hospitals at the rate of 10,000 a month.

CATTLE GET FINGER WAVES FOR SHOWS

Manicuring and "Facials" New Wrinkle of Cattlemen.

Eutaw, Ala.—The newest wrinkles in cattle-raising as it's done in the deep South are finger waves for cows, manicuring and "facials."

The idea of bovine beautification, said to have been originated by Allen Grubbs, southern cattleman, has spread so rapidly in recent months that no cattle show is complete without beautified cows.

Grubbs, who operates on a 125,000-acre plantation near here, created a minor sensation when he led into the ring a Hereford yearling whose curly coat rippled in crisp even rows of finger waves from stem to stern.

Not only that, but each hoof was carefully trimmed and whitened, and its stubby horns gleamed with a deep luster.

The judges took a look and pinned a blue ribbon labeled "Champion" on one of the yearling's polished horns.

"That's why we beautify 'em," commented Grubbs.

He explained the finger waving procedure.

"It's easy, but it takes a lot of patience, because there's so much cow to cover. Then only comparatively long-haired breeds like the Hereford can be finger waved."

"We scrub the cow down thoroughly, then starting at the neck, we curl the hair toward the tail. We dip a curling comb into a solution of creolin water, lift a bit of wet hair with the wet comb, curl it around the finger, then slip the finger out of the end of the curl."

He said it took about 15 minutes for a hand to finger wave a cow. It has to be repeated four or five times a day, just before the cow enters the ring, as rubbing against a stall crushes the ringlets.

Geologist Sees Desert Waste in Distant Future

Kent, Ohio—Ohio, once a desert, again may become a dry, barren land after long geological ages, believes Dr. David Olsen, head of the geography department at Kent State university.

"Geologists know that Ohio and parts of Michigan, Pennsylvania and New York had a desert climate more than a hundred million years ago," explained Dr. Olsen. "It is known that salt deposits found in these states were formed in salty lakes or lagoons off a sea coast in desert areas."

Geological study shows that the Appalachian highlands have been pushed up several thousand feet or more and then have been worn down. This has happened many times in the past.

"If the Appalachians and highlands in Tennessee and Arkansas should rise to an elevation greater by a mile or so than they are today we would have adequate cause for desert conditions in Ohio, since our rain ultimately must come from the Gulf of Mexico or the Atlantic ocean," Dr. Olsen said.

100 Living as Pioneers on Island Near Memphis

Memphis—Five minutes from the noise and lights of downtown Memphis there is a community of 100 persons who live in the crude manner of pioneers.

The community is on Mud Island—two and one-half miles long and tapering to a point from the width of a mile. The site, owned largely by the city of Memphis, is at the confluence of the Wolf and Mississippi rivers, across from the bluffs of Memphis.

The island's residents live in tents or shacks. There are no electrical or mechanical conveniences. There is little money, and barter is the main means of exchange. A family with a cow gets work done on its two or three acres in exchange for milk and butter.

Mud island's residents are satisfied to see the lights of Memphis from a distance, and seldom come to the city. The island is only a few feet above the water level and there usually is a mass exodus when the spring floods come rolling down the Mississippi. The islanders drift back as soon as the water subsides, however.

Hoboes' Signs Still Are Read by Road Brethren

Abilene, Tex.—Officers here believe in the legends of invisible hobo signs.

The same train through Abilene each day for years has carried several weary gentlemen across the western plains of Texas.

Texas & Pacific officials decided to tighten up. The train was "shook down" in Abilene and thirteen of the seventeen men and boys arrested traded their rocking seat for a pail and shovel on the county's chain gang.

The word got out. The next day hoboes must have been obeying a detour sign. For the first time in years not a single nonpaying rider passed through Abilene.

Tax Funds for Counties tributed for this quarter the largest quarterly distribution since repeal. He said the fund collected during the quarter ending September 30 was more than $1,000,000 above the corresponding period of last year.

WERE YOUR COAL BILLS TOO HIGH LAST WINTER?

You would be surprised at the amount of money you can save by an under-sized, inefficient heating system in one winter. And generally a heating system that wastes fuel does not give sufficient heat when extremely cold weather comes around.

We know the causes of excessive fuel consumption. And we know how to remedy them. Ordinarily the cost of modernizing your system is paid for in a few years by savings in fuel. Frequently we are able to show home owners why a new modern Sunbeam Warm-Air Heating System is not an expensive luxury but a downright economy. When you consider that a new Sunbeam will always give you all the heat you want—clean heat, healthful heat—with very little attention and will burn less coal you should ask us for a cost estimate. There is no obligation and time payment terms can be arranged. Let us talk it over with you today.

The Moss Feature Syndicate, Greenboro, N. C.

Teacher—Now, children, will some of you tell me what a herbaceous border is?

Child (whose mother keeps a boarding house)—I know, teacher, a lodger who eats only vegetables.

A tourist, on his way to Europe, was experiencing seasickness for the first time. Calling his wife to his bedside, he said in a weak voice:

"Jennie, my will is in the Florida National Bank. Everything is left to you, dear. My various stocks, you will find in my safe deposit box. Then he said, ferret-like, 'And Jennie, bury me on the other side. I can't stand this trip again, alive or dead.'"

Her Father—I do hope you appreciate that in marrying my daughter you are getting a big-hearted and generous girl.

Young Man—I do, sir. And I hope that she has acquired those fine qualities from her father.

Lady Customer—He's a darling, but I'm afraid I can't buy him—my husband doesn't like dogs.

Dealer—You buy 'im, lady. You can easily get another 'usband, but you won't find another dog like 'im.

Never tell a child to be good unless you are willing to set a practical example.

Man—The cameraman made a mess of Reginald Barry's profile.

Woman—What did he do? Shoot him from the wrong angle?

Man—No, he punched him in the nose.

The Kingdom of Our God

We gaze at the snow white lily. And think, how with loving care, The just and wise Creator, Hath given it beauty rare.

We examine the roses for fragrance And note how each petal blooms, As touched by the God of Heaven, And given a sweet perfume.

We turn to the sunlit river, With its mystic tide of blue, As the waves come gently lapping Their message of trust anew.

We lift our eyes to the summit, Of some far off mountain peak, And a touch of imagination, Contrasts the strong with the weak.

The field of wide creation, We then must needs applaud, For the realms of strength and beauty, Are the kingdoms of our God.

Wonder what it feels like to be the first to enter a stadium that holds 85,000?

Discussing the evils of drink with a friend recently, he said something like this: "Isn't it strange that the drink habit usually gets folks of some consequence? Foolish chaps, knowing little, seem to have sense enough not to get drunk."

He gave illustrations from his personal acquaintances. "I may be right, in part. . . Yet women are not generally addicted to drinking liquor in excess."

And they are sensible folks, many of them brilliant. . . But it may be that men who do exhausting mental labor take drink to stimulate against brainfag. . . Have known a few such cases. . . A few took opiates instead of booze."

The habit grew and the end was tragic. . . Personally believe alcohol has some merit when rubbed on externally for soreness, swellings, etc. . . But it should not be swallowed. . . Knew a chap once who sold liquor and often warned his barkeepers. . . "This stuff was made to sell, not to drink."

Uncle Ab says the passing of the depression is also shown by the amateur farmer passing back to the city.

Squashes, pumpkins, and onions keep best in storage at temperatures near freezing, or around 32 degrees Fahrenheit.

Single-story colonies of bees have the combs three-fourths full of honey for winter, while two-story colonies should have the upper ten combs full.

Economists say farmers fare better when they have bounteous crops to sell at moderate prices than when they have scant crops to sell at high prices.

Facts on growing grapes in New York state are given in the new Cornell bulletin E-375. Single copies may be had free from the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

The length of time a calf should go dry depends on her condition at the close of her milking period, and the ease with which she puts on flesh. Ordinarily, cows will need a dry period of from six to eight weeks.

Permanent pastures should be given attention this fall. Things to consider are: First, apply treatment for the 1938 grazing season if needed; second, harrow to scatter the droppings; and third, discontinue grazing at the proper date.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Stage Door." A real dramatic treat is to be seen at the Broadway in this screen adaptation of the stage success and the entire production is a smooth and realistic commentary on those girls who seek fame behind the footlights. All the heartache, the failure, the dreams and hopes that go into the making of a stage career are brought out with startling effect in this film and the work of Katharine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers and Adolphe Menjou leaves little to be desired. Gregory LaCava directed this RKO-Radio picture and accessory players include Gail Patrick, Constance Collier and Andrea Leeds.

Kingston: "You Can't Take It With You." A stage presentation of the 1937 Pulitzer Prize play by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, played by a professional road company.

Orpheum: "Something to Sing About." The irrepressible James Cagney returns to the screen after a long vacation and immediately proves why he is still one of the top ranking players in the cinema industry with "Mannquin" the other day, and Frank Borzage, directing, had to ask, "Why so reserved?"

"We've never been formally introduced," said Spencer.

"No, we haven't," smiled Joan. "—and by the way, Mr. Tracy, would you mind introducing me to Mr. Borzage? We've never met either!"

Lovers Were Introduced

It is more understandable when such things happen to a screen newcomer. I remember, for instance, Dick Powell had to be presented to Doris Weston, before they started their first love scene in "The Singing Marine" and it happens that way every day.

Among the I-want-to-meet-Gable club members is Beverly Roberts, who also wants to meet Rosalind Russell, whom she considers the most intelligent actress she has seen on the screen. Beverly wants to meet Gable mainly because she saw him one day, during filming of "Can and Mabel," playing leapfrog with several unimportant players near the studio commissary. She also wants to meet Tyrone Power—but then what actress doesn't? Wendy Barrie does, for one, and—write your own list.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—There has been no official census, but it seems to me more movie people would like to meet Clark Gable than any other star.

Gable isn't a recluse, nor hard to meet, but that's the way

Hollywood is—a little pond where the big fish can swim around for years and not bump into each other socially or professionally.

Think that's exaggeration? Well, Joan Crawford and Spencer Tracy started work on "Mannquin" the other day, and Frank Borzage, directing, had to ask, "Why so reserved?"

"We've never been formally introduced," said Spencer.

"No, we haven't," smiled Joan. "—and by the way, Mr. Tracy, would you mind introducing me to Mr. Borzage? We've never met either!"

MOMMY'S LITTLE HELPER

By Frank H. Beck.

Limping Matrons Presage Excellent League "Gaieties"

Those pretty young Kingston Matrons that you have seen pitifully limping down the street the past two weeks do not deserve the sympathy you may have felt for them. They are merely some of the supposedly sprightly chorus ladies of the Kingston Junior League show "The Gaieties of 1937," which is to be presented Friday evening, October 29 at the New York State Armory, Manor avenue. The New York director, Harry Walters, has been rehearsing them so strenuously and without pity, in such a tricky production of the "Can-Can" and has been so exulting in his requirements that these blighted athletic young ladies are beginning to realize how physically taxing show business really is. The sale of liniments in the local drug stores has gone up considerably in the past two weeks. This naughty temperamental revival of yesterday is performed by Mesdames William Schuler, J. Spottiswood Taylor, William Fuller, Jacob Trepper, Sanger Carleton, Edward Shea, Alfred Schmidt, Robert Hancock, William Hinkley, Leon Chambers, Kenneth LeFevre, and Miss Mary Staples. Another dance craze of several decades ago is the Cake-Walk. The "Big Apple" of our fathers is deftly resurrected by Mrs. Sanger Carleton and Roger Eastman and annette composed of the Mesdames Shirley Goodsell, Betty Entrott, Gwendolyn Keishaw, Mary Martin, Betty Rae McCaleb, Harriet Rice, Frances Doble and Marion Obenaga.

Of course the main part of the "Gaieties" program is to be the presentation of that thrilling old shocker, "Only A Farmer's Daughter," or "Adrift on the Ocean of Life." The heroine of this movie drama will make the hardest hearted man in the world cry and set the versatile variety artists will cause one and all to split their sides with laughter. Tickets may be obtained from any Junior League member or phone 2941.

LAKE KATRINE

Lake Katrine, Oct. 23.—The "Fatigue" and "Understanding Each Other" projects are proving interesting to the Lake Katrine Home Bureau units. There have been two meetings on both of these subjects and lively discussions have been the result. Miss Everette Parsons gave the first lesson on "Fatigue" and this was followed by another given by Mrs. Auley Roosa.

The next meeting is scheduled for November 4. This is on care of the hair and will be given by Mrs. James Forman. The place has not been decided but anyone interested is urged to get in touch with some member of the unit.

Those present at the meeting Thursday, October 21, were Mrs. George Adams, Mrs. Graham Parish, Mrs. Daniel Morehouse, Mrs. Herman Schuler, Mrs. Herman Roosa, Mrs. Edward Sagendorf, Mrs. Harry D'Aigle, Mrs. William Powers, Mrs. John Wallace, Mrs. Auley Roosa, Mrs. James Forman, Mrs. Donald Parish, Mrs. Kenneth Parish.

In spite of arguments from psychologists that Orientals don't mind being shot and blown up the way Occidentals do, there is growing evidence that they don't like it.

FEEDING THE BAYLOR BEAR a shovel pass, Bill Patterson puts the university mascot to work on the gridiron at Waco, Texas. Joe College is the name of this 427-pound brute who takes delight in slapping 220-pound guards and tackles. He also likes to have co-eds smuggle sweets to him. His favorite pastime, however, when not cavorting on the campus, is eating ice cream cones—six or more at a sitting.

CUPS AND CUBS held Tony Lazzeri's attention on the California links as he halted play long enough to deny he had begun a deal with Chicago's Cubs.

ACCENT'S ON YOUTH in this appealing photographic study of baby "Sunny Jim," taken while the child's hair is lather-covered during his bath.

A REDSKIN BITES THE CRUST of a luscious big chunk of barbecued beef at a field day staged by Seminole Indians on their reservation south of Brighton, Fla. This young Indian, the descendant of a chieftain, gets a full share of the beef from cattle raised by the tribe in the Everglades.

WITH THE BIRDS Sonora Hermelinda Urquina Briones plans to fly her two-place biplane in November south from New York to Dominican Republic.

FURTEST AMONG THE FURS in international competition staged in New York City went this $25,000 Siberian sable coat and its wearer, Miss Geraldine Novak, 21, crowned Fur Queen over 26 rivals representing as many nations. Consuls of each country cast a vote. Miss Novak claims her ancestors, as well as the sable's, came from Siberia.

DRIVERS PLAY PEEK-A-BOO, getting their first glimpse of winter in Denver through snow-covered windshields as the first storm of autumn hit the mile high city. This pretty miss is giving the windshield wiper a hand after it stalled under the load of big, wet flakes. In other widely separated cities the first blanket of white appeared. What was in some states a record snow for the season later turned into heavy rains.

LOVE BIRDS ON THE HALF SHELL, these two solved the housing problem by taking a winter lease on half a coconut house found in a palm tree along the bay front at Miami, Fla. The small parrots were snugly settled in their new quarters before arrival of their feathered northern visitors.

HE TOOK IT BACK, the 1929 advice he gave to college grads to "be a snob." Prof. Robert E. Rogers of M. I. T. recently said times have altered the outlook.

LITTLE MAN HAS A BUSY DAY every Saturday for Texas Christian University's 153-pound star back, Davey O'Brien, played every minute of his team's first four games, did all the passing, all signal calling, all the kicking and the biggest share of ball carrying that ought to approach a record.

SPLENDID HOUSING CONDITIONS will be found in the motion picture industry by the Duke and Duchess of Windsor on their expected visit to Hollywood. While in Southern California the former British monarch and his American wife may visit the palatial beach home of Marion Davies, film actress, at Santa Monica. Here is a recent picture of the estate about which the duke will be able to jot down notes of a swimming pool and tennis courts.

A BIG ORDER is the job of Nathan Straus (above), appointed by the President to direct the federal housing authority. He is a New Yorker.

OLD TIMES THERE AM NOT FORGOTTEN, but in Dixie's land of cotton as elsewhere the machine age influence is felt. Here is a 1937 model cotton picker at work near Clarksdale, Miss., where machines of rival companies are being tested. Next year they will compete with field hands.

STOCKYARD FOR WHITE ELEPHANTS is the Kill van Kull at Staten Island, N. Y., where float rusting government ships turned out hastily during boom days of the World War at a cost of $1,200,000 apiece. This aerial view shows the phantom fleet, now being sold for junk at prices ranging from $18,000 to $50,000. To Joseph B. Kennedy, head of the U. S. maritime commission, falls the task of ridding the country of the relics.

Derrenbacher Is Found Dead in Bed

Edward Derrenbacher, who for years had been engaged in the wholesale ice cream business in Kingston, was found dead in bed this morning by his wife, Dr. C. B. Van Gaasbeek, who was called, stated death was due to acute dilatation of the heart. Coroner Norvin Lasher issued the death certificate.

Mr. Derrenbacher was apparently in good health Sunday and retired about his usual hour and went to bed. He had lighted the reading lamp by his bed and was evidently reading when stricken. When Mrs. Derrenbacher entered the room this morning she found the reading light still on and her husband dead.

Mr. Derrenbacher, who resided at 23 Hasbrouck Place, had been engaged in the wholesale ice cream and candy business for many years, with a plant on West Strand. Early this year the business was sold to the Hosler Company, and Mr. Derrenbacher was employed by them.

He was a son of the late Jacob and Mary Stephan Derrenbacher, and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Katherine Alliger Derrenbacher, one sister, Mrs. Jane D. Pehleman and several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held from the late home on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial in Wiltwyck cemetery.

L. B. Gleason Dies, G. O. P. Secretary

New York, Oct. 25 (AP).—Lafayette B. Gleason, who announced the result of roll calls nominating seven presidential candidates, and who served 31 years as secretary of the New York Republican state committee, has answered the final roll call.

"Colored Life" as he was known to one of the largest circles of friends of any politician in the nation, died Sunday in St. Luke's Hospital, after a lifetime devoted to the Republican party. He was 74 years old.

A master of political convention detail, Gleason was a fixture at national and state conventions for 40 years. With a memory that enabled him to call the roll without reference to a printed list he had announced the nomination of William Howard Taft, Charles Evans Hughes, Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover and Alf M. Landon. He served as secretary at seven national and 19 state conventions.

Gleason was born in Delhi, N. Y., May 30, 1863. He chose the law as a profession and was graduated from Yale University in 1885.

Gleason married Mrs. Frances Rich McEntee at Bridgeport, Conn., in 1908. She died last year. A son, Gordon, by an earlier marriage, survives.

Funeral services will be held at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow at Riverside Chapel.

SAYS SHE SAW DRIVER TEARING DOWN POSTERS.

The adage "live and let live" apparently is gone with the wind, according to a statement made by an uptown woman today. Shortly after noon the telephone bell tinkled and the woman informed The Freeman office that a "Democratic" car had been seen by her driving about the Main street section of the city with the occupant busily tearing down posters placed by Republican candidates and substituting pictures of the Democratic candidates.

This practice has been observed in the past but has been attributed to small boys or children. "I just thought you might like to know how they are acting," said the informant on the telephone.

High Falls: Mrs. Hazel Davis, of Floyd, and Roscoe C. of Highland, died Sunday in the family plot in Highland cemetery.

Cunningham Finds Missing Girl After Search Along River

Sergeant James J. Cunningham and Trooper Walter Keefe of Saturday morning located a young girl, missing from Rome State School for Mental Defectives since September 29. For some time the officials have been looking for Barbara Blackstone of Rochester, who escaped from the school on September 29. The search was centered in and about Catskill, where it was believed the young girl was living with a man. However, when no trace of her was found, Troopers in Catskill referred the case to Sergeant Cunningham, who started a search.

The Blackstone girl was sent to Rome School on February 11, 1937, and escaped this fall. She was classed as a mental defective and when the case came to the attention of Sergeant Cunningham he started a search along the river on the brickyard.

At Malden he located a girl who answered the description of the missing girl, but she claimed to be Pearl Brown from Syracuse. Questioned by the officers she maintained that her name was not Blackstone. The description of the missing girl stated her hair was long but the girl at Malden wore bobbed hair.

Not to be deceived by her denial of her identity, Sergeant Cunningham took the social worker and an attendant from the school to the Robert Heasley home at Malden where the two officials from the institution identified the girl as the one wanted. She was turned over to the attendants and taken back to the institution.

Wasps Trim Bombers by 13-6; Bradley Lewis Boxes Here Oct. 29

Yellow Jackets Win Hard Game Over Yonkers at Fair Grounds

A long looping pass from Bill Thomas in the last two minutes of the Yellow Jacket-Yonkers game at the Fair Grounds, that sailed into the arms of Mike Marchuk in the end zone, settled one of the most hotly contested gridiron battles ever witnessed in this section. The final score was 13 to 6.

A short punt by Sylvester brought the first bit of damage to the Bombers in the opening period as his kick landed on his own 25-yard line. The Wasps reeled on the first downs and then with the ball resting on the one foot line, Harry Wilber slashed off tackle and went spinning over the pay-off stripe with the initial score of the game.

The Jackets protected this slim lead until the waning minutes of the third period when Sylvester's hard driving back of the ball took the Bombers on the 45 yard line and sent them to a touchdown which tied the count. Sylvester's attempt for the conversion was good but on a technical play it was nullified.

The Jackets opened the offensive brand of ball after 13 plays. Sylvester's poor punt gave the ball to Kingston on its 28. Two consecutive to the one. On Wilber's second try to buck the line, he succeeded and the Wasps led 6 to 0. The attempted conversion by Jimmy Steigewald was too low.

Kelder Called Back
Lear boots off the shoes of Sylvester and Thomas launched the second quarter that kept both of the offensive machines at a standstill. At one time, however, the Wasps ventured as far as the opponents' 32 on completion of a freak pass. Thomas heaved to Mac Tiano but the pigskin bounced out of his hands and went flipping into Gil Kelder's possession. Gil continued to run until stopped on the Yonkers' 32. However, the play was called back as Kelder wasn't the potential receiver. Aside from this play, there were no great gains and the first half ended with the Jackets still in the 6 to 0 command.

Yonkers Scores
With locals handling the ball in the third session, the Bombers found themselves up against the wall again as Kingston continued to dominate the game. On the last down and yards to go, the Singers tried to make a first down through the air but the pass was grounded. The Yonkers' aggression then moved up to its own 48. Following an unsuccessful smash through the forward wall, Sylvester received the ball from center and went sweeping around end, shaking off tacklers and continuing down the field and over for a touchdown. The extra point by Sylvester was nullified by Referee McLean on the charge that Smith, who was holding the ball, permitted his knee to rest on the turf.

Wasps Win
As the fourth quarter waned, Mac Tiano got the ball from Center Jackson, turned and lateraled to Bill Thomas who faded back and heaved a pass down into the end zone where Mike Muech took it for a touchdown. Gil Kelder made it 13 to 6 with a neat placement kick. A long run back of the kick-off and a successful pass pushed the visitors into scoring position on Kingston's 38 but the Bombers were losing up, the whistle blew ending the game.

Pickups
Mike Muech, the newcomer, came through in fine fashion. Besides catching the winning pass in the end zone, he recovered a fumble on the Bombers' 43-yard marker. All in all, Mike showed up well enough to fit into the Yellow Jacket picture in future engagements. The Wasps' passing attack was off again with the receivers failing to snag easy passes. Out of 17 passes flung, they completed only two, one was the clincher. Although the aerial attack failed, Coach Tiano and Trainer Steigewald gloried in the performance of the forward wall from end to end. In the first period Jimmy Tiano aggravated an injury and left the game. Through the personal beauty of Marv Heiselman, the Jackets took the field garbed in their new jerseys and helmets. Despite the fact that the visitors' offensive contained very little of the deceptive type of plays, they had plenty of brains and according to all of the Wasps, the Yonkers' aggression was the strongest of any club that has been here this season.

Colonials Win Close Game, 28-26 Sunday in Bronx

Frank Morgenweck's Kingston Colonials won by a nose, 28-26, Sunday in a closely fought game at the Bronx with the Kavanauas, a collection of fast young players, used to American League competition, who pressed them all the way.

"It was a good game for the spectators," said Morgie, "and the crowd had seemed to get a great kick out of the battle, but my heart was in my throat as the Colonials missed nine foul shots. Our boys need a lot of practice from the baby stripe."

Allie Schuckman, newly acquired Jewel guard, and Carlie Hustia, the old standby, and Moe Dubilier, husky Hebrew rookie, did the best offensive playing for the Morgenwecks, as indicated by the score sheet. Wyke, formerly with Kingston, and Milt Grupp and Hellwell, who played here last Wednesday with Honey Russell's team, did the best shooting for the Kavanauas.

Cut Due Monday
Morgie said he would start swinging the axe, to cut the Colonial squad down to normal after Wednesday's game with the Renaissance, colored champions of the world. "These stars of the court should give us our real test, and I'll know who to keep."

The preliminary Wednesday will show the Fuller Clermonts against the Officers of Poughkeepsie. This contest is slated for 7:30, and the main game for 9:15 o'clock.

Kingston High Loses DUSO Game to Middletown, 20-6

Paced by the outstanding performances of Ray Dodd, George Schick and Ira Cummings, Coach Hughes' powerful Middletown high school hard driving outfit, hammered out a 20 to 6 win over the Maroon and White warriors at the Fair Grounds Saturday afternoon before 2,000 spectators who eyed the game through a downpour of rain. By the victory, Middletown annexed its initial DUSO encounter in a gallant fight for the coveted crown.

Kingston's Tommy Maines opened the fray by kicking off to the 12 yard stripe where Schick took the ball and lateraled out to his mate, Ray Dodd, who snapped the pigskin on the 25 after Schick's run to this line. Dodd hugged the ball as he made his way up the field and following expert blocking by all of his men, continued to wade through the entire Kingston team and finally scampered across the chalk lines for the first score of the game on the first play.

The Kiamen came right back in this period when they advanced the ball to the opponents' 49 which moved Maines' back in a pass formation. Tommy heaved the sphere down to Ray Schneider on the 36 and the pass receiver kept on until he had gone over for a touchdown. This was the nearest Kingston came in the ball game to overtaking the Middies. In the second period on a reverse, Schick to Cummings, while the latter lateraled to Dodd, registered the visitors' second score. With the locals in possession of the ball on their own 12, Meagher's pass was intercepted by Schick on Kingston's 13 and he ran the remaining yards for Middletown's final tally.

Schneider Tallies
Maines' opening kickoff bounced on the 12 where Schick took it and ran to the 25 and being tackled, lateraled to his running mate, Dodd, who shook off plenty of Maroon tacklers and registered one of the prettiest 75-yard dashes ever seen on a Kingston gridiron. Cummings booted their seventh marker. After a kick into the end zone, the Kiamen opened a drive which advanced them to the Middies' 49. On third down, Maines faded back, saw that Schneider was in the clear, and heaved the slippery ball to him on Middletown's 38. Ray grabbed the ball, took to the side lines and galloped down the field for a touchdown. Powers tried to make the equalizer by a dropkick but it was blocked. As the first session ended the huge visitors were again marching into the Maroon territory.

Mixing reverses and power plays in the second quarter, Middletown rammed its way to Kingston's nine. On the next play, Dodd plunged to the five, but on a reverse from Schick to Cummings, Kingston held. On the third down, Schick got the ball from center, gave it to the sweeping Cummings, who broke out into the open on the 11. As Cummings was being downed, he tossed a lateral out into the arms of Ray Dodd, who ran from the 19 yard line for the Middies' second touchdown. Cummings tried to make it 14 but his kick was a little wide. In the waning minutes of the first half, Kingston put on a threatening spurge that saw its machine whip itself into action only to be stopped after some nifty running on Middletown's 20-yard line. The half ended with the visitors leading 13-6.

In the third quarter, Dodd ripped off another nice run and crossed the last white stripe, but the touchdown was nullified because he went out of bounds on the nine-yard stripe. What looked like a strong chance to score, was stifled when the Middies fumbled, and Al Rose grabbed the ball for Kingston. Maines punted to Kingston's 49. Dodd returning the ball to the 23. Two line bucks and a reverse brought the oval to the 12, and the quarter finished.

Another Middle Score
On a fake kick, in the fourth quarter, Tommy Maines fed the ball to Meagher who tossed to Bill Von Essen, but the heave was intercepted by Myers, left tackle of the Middle eleven, who ran 13 yards for the final touchdown. The kick for extra point by Ira Cummings cut the hors for the 20th point of the battle.

Alfred Leads Upstate Teams

Alfred N. Y., Oct. 25 (UP)—Little Alfred University, one of upstate New York's smallest colleges, is one of its biggest football shots today.

As the upstate big three went to the major wars and was turned back without a victory, the little western New York school stayed in its own class and won its fifth straight game: its longest winning streak in 46 years.

By beating Kenyon College, 13 to 6, in a night game, the Night Owls—so named because of the number of night games on its schedule—became one of the east's five teams to win five games without a tie or a defeat this year.

Meantime Cornell, Colgate and Syracuse—dropped games to outstanding teams from other states—Yale, Duke and Maryland.

Playing as the featured upstate attraction, Colgate lost its first home game under Coach Andy Kerr to Duke at Hamilton, 13 to 9 when two blocked kicks provided the only touchdowns scored by the southern eleven.

Syracuse, last week upset winner over Cornell, lost, 13 to 0, to Maryland at Baltimore, Md., while Cornell invaded the Yale Bowl in New Haven, Conn., to take a 9 to 7 beating from the Eli.

In eastern New York's annual outstanding traditional clash between the small colleges, R. P. L.'s little-headed eleven earned itself a moral victory by holding the highly favored union to a 6-all tie at Schenectady.

JEAN BATTEN RESTS AFTER RECORD FLIGHT

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Jean Batten, 26-year-old New Zealand woman flier, rested today after her record breaking flight from Australia to England and an enthusiastic welcome.

Her time from Darwin, Australia, to Lympne, England, was five days, 18 hours and 15 minutes, which clipped 14 hours and 10 minutes from the record set by Jim Broadbent last May.

Broadbent, who was flying toward Australia in an attempt to beat her record, abandoned his flight at Baghdad, Iraq, today because of sandstorms and headwinds.

We keep being surprised that, with all these wars going on outside of Africa, nobody sends for Tarzan.

Drennan Girl In New York State

Iselin, N. J., Oct. 25 (AP)—Margaret Drennan, acquitted of a charge of slaying a man she said she shot when he attempted to attack her again after having made her pregnant, was reported by her family today to be "somewhere in New York state," resting up after the ordeal of her trial.

Her father, John Drennan, said his pretty, 20-year-old daughter left with a distant relative and would be away at least three weeks.

A jury of 11 men and one woman acquitted Margaret Friday on a charge of shooting 25-year-old Paul Reeves to death in his home here while his attractive wife, Myra, was at a motion picture show.

Angered by the widow's attempt to gain admittance to the Drennan home to talk to Margaret, Drennan said, "if that widow comes here again I'll have her arrested."

Repulsed by Margaret and her family, Thomas McGovern, a railroad brakeman, is reported to have withdrawn his offer of marriage to the girl.
